A Word About Precincts

Every election year, the voters of California elect 20 State Senators, 80 Assemblymen, 52 or more Congressmen and a President or Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, and various other public officials.

Every person in the United States lives in a neighborhood precinct, which is a small geographical boundary, established by the government. A precinct is the area served by a single polling place, and an average precinct contains approximately 900 voters. There are approximately 24,000 precincts in California.

Why It's Important

Elections have been won and lost by less than one vote per precinct.

In 1990, Dan Lungren, the Republican candidate for Attorney General of California, defeated his Democrat opponent by 28,906 of about 7 million votes cast, a margin of 1/2 of 1% or 1 vote per precinct.

In 1998, Bill Jones was reelected Secretary of State, defeating his Democrat opponent by 89,738 of 7 million votes cast, a margin of 1% of 3 1/2 votes per precinct.

In 2010, Tim Donnelly won the Republican primary for the 59th Assembly District by a margin of 631 votes or a margin of 1 1/2% or 1.3 votes per precinct.

As a Precinct Representative you will be the key grassroots member of the Republican Party in your precinct. Your responsibilities will be simple yet vital:

1. Attend a special briefing for Republican Neighborhood Precinct Representatives.
2. Participate in a countywide voter registration walk in October by walking your precinct and registering new Republican voters.
3. Participate in a countywide voter contact walk in November by delivering campaign news and reminding your neighbors to vote. Participate in our Election Day get out the vote program.

Of course, we'll provide the maps, the list of Republican voters, and all campaign materials!

Plus, you'll have all the training and guidance you'll need as a member of a fun Republican volunteer team.

Please return this form today and help elect solid Republican candidates just by talking to your neighbors!
